Reopening of School

Dear Parents,

We know that this week's news of schools fully reopening on Monday 8th March will have brought a mixture of emotions - delight and possibly some worry at the same time; that is okay and to be expected.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your support and the amazing work you have done in supporting your children with their remote education. Try to keep that momentum of learning going until the end of next week as it will make the return to school so much easier for your children.

The Department for Education have released updated guidance for schools, which we have started to work through in detail. Please be reassured that we will continue to closely align our school risk assessment with the system control measures from Public Health England and maintain our robust procedures and class bubble integrity to prevent risk as much as possible.

We will send out additional information to parents, including reminders of our staggered starts and finishes next week to answer any further questions. However, you will find that there is little change to how we were working in December.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Hannah Beckett
