Temperatures set to rise again

Dear Parents,

Our children managed the high temperatures last week so well. Our air-conditioned classrooms and limiting the amount of time spent outside help in these situations but we do need your help too. Please could we remind all parents that their children must come into school wearing sun cream and have a sun hat with them.

Whilst all children should come into school with water bottles regardless of the temperature, it is imperative that they have a water bottle in school for the rest of the week.

As well, if your child is comfortable to do so, school jumpers can be left at home as the early morning chills soon pass.

Sincerely and with wishes of good health,
